

Are you trying to find time this summer to work on an article or book chapter?

Join us for the 6th annual Faculty Writing Retreat.

What is the Faculty Writing Retreat?

The Library hosts this free, week-long retreat on campus for University of Guelph faculty working on scholarly writing projects. You will be provided with a quiet, comfortable, fully wired space, as well as focused time in which to write.

The retreat will offer an opportunity to build a supportive writing group with colleagues from across the university and to join in group discussions on writing and publishing. Individual consultations will also be available.

When is it?

Monday to Friday, May 14-18, 2018

9:15am-4pm

Location: McLaughlin Library

To participate, you must be working on a specific writing project and be at a stage at which focused writing time makes sense (i.e., finished your research). Participants should also be able to attend all five days of the retreat.

How do you register?

Registration is online <https://www.lib.uoguelph.ca/workshops-events/faculty-writing-retreat>, and it fills up quickly. Registration will be limited on a first-come, first-served basis.

If you have questions, please email Jodie Salter at jsalter@uoguelph.ca.
