A DVSc (Doctor of Veterinary Science) position in Anatomic Pathology with a focus on Pathology of Fish is available, beginning in September 2020, in the Department of Pathobiology at the Ontario Veterinary College, University of Guelph. The DVSc program is a 3-year (9 semesters) applied doctoral program that leads to eligibility for the certifying examination of the American College of Veterinary Pathologists. The DVSc program in Anatomic Pathology is closely integrated with graduate programs in Veterinary Infectious Diseases, Veterinary Immunology, and the provincial Animal Health Laboratory (AHL) that is housed in the Pathobiology building. It combines coursework, participation in the necropsy and biopsy services, and an investigative research project leading to a doctoral-level thesis. A competitive stipend is awarded annually upon satisfactory progress. Applicants must have a DVM or equivalent degree from an accredited school, a strong academic record, evidence of commitment to pathology, and be eligible to obtain educational or general licensure with the College of Veterinarians of Ontario (CVO). The candidate may be required to take an entrance exam to assess core knowledge in veterinary pathology.

Deadline for applications is January 24th, 2020 or until a suitable applicant is identified. Applications should be completed online at:
https://www.ouac.on.ca/apply/guelphgrad/en_CA/user/login

In addition, applicants must submit a curriculum vitae, a statement of career goals, and two letters of reference. Previous experience or training in fish health will be considered an asset. Application inquiries should be directed to Jessie Beer (Department of Pathobiology, University of Guelph, Guelph Ontario N1G 2W1 Canada; phone: 519-824-4120 ext. 54725, fax 519-824-5930; e-mail pathgrad@uoguelph.ca).

Inquiries regarding the DVSc program should be directed to Dr. John S. Lumsden (jsl@uoguelph.ca). Additional information is available at https://ovc.uoguelph.ca/pathobiology/dvsc-program. The University of Guelph has an International Doctoral Tuition Scholarship for full-time doctoral (DVSc) students with a minimum A-/80% entrance average (Guelph equivalent) to cover the difference between domestic and international tuition.

The University of Guelph is committed to an Employment Equity Program that includes special measures to achieve diversity among its faculty and staff. We therefore particularly encourage applications from qualified aboriginal Canadians, persons with disabilities, members of visible minorities, and women. If you require accommodation of any kind, please contact Michael Dunstan, Manager, Occupational Health and Wellness, 519-824-4120 x 52133.

For questions/more information about the position contact: John S Lumsden, DVM, PhD, Dipl ACVP: jsl@uoguelph.ca