

One-of-a-Kind Equine Sports Medicine Fellowship

Kleider Veterinary Services, located in the beautiful and diverse Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada area, is seeking a highly motivated veterinarian with a passion for Sports Medicine, Lameness and Surgery to join our team of ISELP-certified veterinarians for a 12 to 18 month fellowship.

This unique opportunity will allow a motivated professional to gain invaluable experience with exposure to both the ambulatory and elective surgical components of equine practice. You will be spending time on the road visiting both high-performance and recreational clients and patients, learning about general veterinary practice including dentistry, as well as applied lameness diagnosis, diagnostics, and treatment. You will also be assisting with anesthesia and surgical procedures, working with an innovative sport horse medicine group who have a passion for teaching and mentorship. Your emergency skills will be kept sharp with participation in our after-hours on-call rotation. This fellowship is special and will help prepare you for your future.

This position offers live-in accommodation as well as a salary and health and dental benefits. Beautiful British Columbia awaits your arrival, boasting world-class outdoor recreational opportunities from the ocean to the mountains and everything in between, as well as all the benefits of a diverse, multicultural population and vibrant culture. The practice is located minutes from the world-famous Thunderbird Show Park and is close to the USA border, with Seattle WA just a couple of hours' drive away.

Visit our website at <https://www.kleidervet.com/> for more information on our practice and veterinarians.

If you are a recent graduate of an accredited DVM program or a younger veterinarian just out of an internship and you are looking for an opportunity to jump-start your career, please send a resume (CV) along with cover letter to Katie Ardeline at kardeline@oculusinsights.net.

We look forward to an initial phone interview and meeting you in person. Our doctors and management team will be attending the upcoming AAEP convention in December in San Francisco and are available to meet during that time.
